

Thank you for joining me for the London Legal Walk's 21st year and tuning into our first ever series of Legal Walk sound bites!

Over the years, the Walk has raised over £11.5 million to support frontline free legal advice charities. These incredible organisations help people facing life-changing legal challenges and throughout this event, you'll be hearing directly from some of them.

Last year alone, we raised £1 million, and with your help, we know we can beat that this year. Please make sure you are self-donating so that gift aid can be claimed. And also, please make sure you have shared your participation in today's walk on social media, and with your friends, families, and colleagues to attract sponsors.

Coming up from the first kilometre marker will be a sound bite from the RCJ advice which is both a Citizens Advice and Law Centre.

I really hope you enjoy your day and make the most of the festivities. I look forward to celebrating another record-breaking year with you at the street party.

Thank you again for all your incredible efforts and ongoing support.
