

James: Hello, James and Joy here, from London Legal Support Trust (or LLST) Board of Trustees. What an incredible day this has been!

Joy: Absolutely, James! To each and every one of you: congratulations on reaching the final kilometre. You've poured your heart and soul into every step, and now the big street party is just around the corner!

James: Thank you for helping us towards our goal of raising £1 million for the 100 plus free legal advice charities that the London Legal Walk proudly supports.

Joy: As you've walked today, you've heard stories of real, life-changing impact, stories made possible by your fundraising. Just a £15 one off donation helps to train a volunteer to assist a client filling forms to ensure they apply for the support that they're entitled to. And a £100 one off donation contributes to a legal advisor representing someone in court or tribunal.

James: We hope this sound bite series gives you a better understanding of why this event is so crucial and why London Legal Support Trust is such an integral part of the legal and advice sector. We look forward to seeing all of you and more again next year.

Joy: Thank you for standing with us, for every step taken and every pound raised. We couldn't do this without your passion and generosity.

James: Have a great time at the street party

Joy: You've earned it!
